WESLEYAN TEAM FINALLY WINS GAME FAOM CHINKS

Methodist Tea mWins from Orientals for First Time in Three Years.

BUCKHANNON, May 20.—After two unsuccessful attempts in previous seasons, Wesleyan finally downed the Chinese University baseball team here Friday, by staging an old-fashioned rally in both the sixth and seventh innings.

The Chinese forged to the front in the third inning and Ayau's hit, Dunn's error, Chinn's two-base drive and another rap good for a base by Lieby, scored two runs. In the fifth a base on ball to Ayau, two outs and a single by Mark scored another, this ending the run-getting for the orientals.

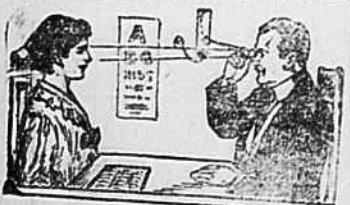

After Miller had gone out in the sixth Singleton was safe on Ayau's error and then Daniel proceeded to knock one far over the fence for a home run. Talkington then walked.

and Shumaker hit safely, but Suan made a wonderful catch on Withers' drive in deep center and doubled Talkington at second. The orange and black war clubs were not to be denied, however, and after Back was safe on another error, Dunn, Thurman, Singleton and Daniel singled in succession, and three runs crossed the plate, sewing up the contest.

Several errors figured in the run-getting, but time after time scintillating bits of play, both in the infield and outfield cut off would be base runners. The most brilliant performance

A FRIENDLY GAME

8:30 p. m.

Tom—Before we start, let's set a time to quit.

Joe—Make it eleven bells.

Bert—Suits me. I've got to get some sleep tonight.

Tom—Eleven it is.

Lou—What are these checks worth?

Joe—The blues are two bits and the reds a dime and the whites a jit.

Hal—And what's the limit?

Joe—Two bits. And don't let's boost it.

Hal—No chance.

Bert—Playing straight?

Tom—All jacks, and nothing wild.

Lou—That's the idea. Wild cards are a joke.

Hal—It's a good enough game without making anything wild.

Dick—First jack deals.

Lou—It's me. Lucky is the dealer in a big jackpot.

Hal—Well, I hope you win it. I hate to win the first pot.

Bert—I can't.

Tom—I'm a passenger.

Hal—I've got 'em, boys. Let you all in—twenty cents.

Joe—It's cheapness recommends it. I'll loiter.

Dick—Not for me.

Lou—Cards, if any?

Hal—Three off the top.

Joe—The next three. If I catch, watch out!

Hal—I'm checking to you.

Joe—I didn't catch.

Hal—Just Minnie and Maude. Losers push.

2:40 a. m.

Hal—What's wild this time?

Tom—Let's have seven.

Lou—Who told you you were running this game? I guess I'm the dealer. Fives are wild.

Tom—Can't you lose a few dollars without beginning to crab?

Lou—Good lord, if I was as big a crab as you, I'd shut up.

Tom—I don't have to shut up, see?

Dick—Deal the cards and shut up.

Bert—Shut up.

Lou—I'll shut up if anybody can make me shut up.

Dick—Play cards and quit crabbing.

Bert—She's open, boys. Eight bucks.

Tom—Going up. Let's keep the pikers out.

Hal—Let's see. It costs me sixteen to stay. Let's make it a good one. I'll raise that ten.

Joe—You play like a washwoman. What do you want to do, keep everybody out?

Hal—I'm playing this hand.

Joe—You're making an awful mess of it.

Hal—I'm getting the money, ain't I?

Bert—Well, are you going to stay or not stay?

Joe—I'll stay. O' course, I'll stay. A man can't get even staying out.

Dick—How much are you losers?

Joe—Me? Fifty-something bucks.

Dick—You got nothing on me. I'm sixty out.

Joe—You are likeli!

Dick—I guess I know what I'm out. Hal must be a hundred to the good.

Hal—You're delirious. This pile stands me forty bucks.

Lou—Everybody set? Cards?

Bert—One off the top, and make it a good one.

Tom—I'll play these.

Hal—Two.

Joe—I want one.

Dick—I'm satisfied with these.

Lou—Two to the dealer.

Bert—Well, boys, I've got to bet ten.

Tom—You're called.

Joe—Betting into a pat hand. You're a fine poker player.

Bert—Well, I don't cry when I lose a dime.

Joe—You play so tight that you can't lose.

Hal—She's raised ten, boys.

Joe—You lucky horseshoe stit! I'll throw these away.

Dick—I've got to call. There's twenty bucks.

Lou—I'm through.

Tom—I've got to call, but I haven't any more chance than a snake.

Lou—Lay 'em down, boys.

Bert—Four nines.

Tom—Tops me. Ace high flush.

Hal—Stay out till you get something! Four of the bullets.

Dick—I knew my full house was not worth anything.

Lou—Come on, come on. Let's play the next one.

Bert—All right.

Joe—This is a seven card peek, with fives, sixes, nines, and jacks wild.

3:10 a. m.

Hal—No, on the square. I got to meet a customer at eight bells and I'll only get a couple hours' sleep. And my head aches, too. And the

Lou—Then you'd have nothing but luck.

Joe—Yes, I suppose you're a smart guy, you poor boob.

Bert—Deal the cards.

Tom—Let's play eight rounds of roddies with nothing wild but the deuces and the 'cuter and the treys, and then quit.

Joe—Yes, you want to quit, too.

Lou—All right, eight rounds. And let's make it everybody ante ten bucks.

Dick—Shott.

YOU CAN ALMOST TALK TO HER—THIS 3400 r. p. m. CHALMERS

They're buying motor cars today as they're hiring men—on ability.

Blue eyes, brown hair, a rugged jaw, mean something—but not so much as they used to.

They're seeking ability. And that is not always measured in stature, weight and reach.

Likewise in a car. They look her over, learn her wheel-base, note the tire sizes, ask the bore and stroke of the engine and then—

They make her perform.

They make her hit the trail, they roll her up the stiffest hill. They let her out on the straightaway, and they make her accelerate at slow speeds.

It's the only way to judge a car. And we're particularly glad, because we have in the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers a car that answers every human wish.

You can almost talk to this animal. You can lead her anywhere. We know of no one who has ever called on her for too much, nor asked of her anything she couldn't deliver.

She's like a young ballplayer who keeps driving 'em over the right field fence.

She's there. And the reason is her magnificent 3400 r. p. m. engine. When history in our business is written, 3400 r. p. m. will occupy a thick chapter.

Simply because at the lowest speeds she saves her energy, turns up only 500 r. p. m. at 10 miles an hour, and 1000 r. p. m. at 20 miles an hour.

Thus using only 18 per cent of her power at such speeds and saving 62 to 80 per cent for winding, hilly roads, bad turns, and on occasions when a little extra power gives you possession of the road.

On a ride of five miles behind the wheel and you'll know it. Ask your dealer about Chalmers service inspection coupons, negotiable at all Chalmers dealers everywhere. This system is a most important consideration in buying your car.
